The Committee asked the following questions.

- What was the differences between residential burglaries and robbery? Robbery was where someone used or threatens to use violence to take something from you and burglary was theft.
- Can you please take us through your cooperation strategy with the British Transport Police. The C/Insp advised that the police worked closely with bordering forces on a range of operations and events, whilst working with British Transport Police (BTP). If 999 or 111 calls were received, the police would attend and deal with the incident until BTP arrived and assist as necessary. There were several operations being carried out across the tube network at this time.
- What steps are and could be taken to deal with the central line being used by gangs travelling in the district? Information was shared with the MET and CCTV was monitored. In addition to the various operations running in relation to child sexual exploitation and knife crime. The Community police were also holding events outside tube stations.
- Is there any evidence of a gang culture developing in the Loughton area or other parts of our district? C/Insp Cooper advised that there was a difference between ASB and gang culture and that a lot of work had been ongoing with ASB. Currently, there was no evidence of a gang culture with the district.
- Could the Great Eastern Path walk through to Loughton station continue to receive community policing due to the obvious drug taking, the fear of using it for females and school pupils? It was noted that this area would still receive foot patrols and further night-time events would be arranged. CCTV had also been installed in the area.
- Would the Loughton Police Station reopen again as a fully functioning police station? There had been a number of factors which had affected the decision to either close stations or remove the front desk service. It was noted that Loughton Police Station was still a fully functioning police station and although the front desk had been closed, members of the public could use the yellow phone outside the building. This provided a direct line to the police.
- There had been issues with large vehicles/lorries using Broomstick Hall Road, Waltham Abbey as a cut through to the motorway. Vehicles have been seen speeding, mounting pavements, and not adhering to the weight restriction. Is there anything the Police can do? The C/Insp advised that the road does have a weight limit of 7.5 tons, and the police could issue fixed notice penalties for these offences, although the weight limit does allow for large vehicles which may not be over the weight limit. The installation of cameras was not part of the Community Police Team remit, although this information would be passed onto the Roads Policing Team.

- Could the police install a fixed speed camera in Theydon Bois? The Community Policing team did not have any authority over this issue, but it would pass the request over to the Roads Policing Team.
- What information do the police give to victims of car theft? It was noted that car owners could consider using trackers, faraday pouches or steering wheel locks. The police also provided further information on their social media platforms.
- What were the Community Policing Team doing about rural crime above and beyond the dedicated rural officer? It was noted that any specific concerns should be raised with the rural officer and that advice should be reassuring. The police were introducing Operation Brazil which used DNA water to assist with the identification of stolen property particular in relation to stolen property in rural areas.
- How does the Epping Forest Community Policing team support the rural areas of the district? The Community Officers had uncovered several chop shops in rural locations and through regularly meetings with the police, they would be tasked with looking at issues within the rural areas of the district. The Specialist Technical Services Officer advised that Operation Brazil would be supported by the Community Policing team and later this year Horse Watch would be introduced. Officers would be attending a meeting with regards to the rural crime strategy, although it was recognised that there was a lot of work to do in this area.
- Could the parishes fund a special constable just for the parishes? Officers would take this back and investigate.
- What would be the signs of a gang culture developing? The C/Insp advised that robberies, stabbings, gun crime more arrests for weapons offenses, more general violence, increased use of Section 60 - Stop and Search being used, County Lines and younger child being arrested would be indicators. Although, she assured members that there were no known organised crime gangs in the district.
- Could the police provide further information what they were doing with online fraud and deception targeted at older people? It was noted that officers do visit sheltered housing communities and events had been held at Waltham Abbey, Epping and a further one planned for the eastern area of the district to further promotion this issue.
- How did the Community Policing Team work with the London City Constables in relation to the Forest? The C/Insp advised that she had not yet met with the London City Constables, so was unable to give any further information, although a future meeting had been arranged.
- What were the Community Policing Team doing about the persistent ASB issues in Sainsburys on the Broadway? There had been ongoing work and Sainsburys had been assigned a dedicated officer. Alongside this work a community protection warning had been issued to a persistent beggar and a criminal behaviour order had been issued to a prolific shoplifter in the area which had banned him from the area.
- Do the police engage with Epping Forest Campus – New City College? Yes, they have worked with the college on a number of projects and have recently held a week of events, which goes towards student's public service qualification.

- How were the roads for speed watches chosen? It was noted that the police acted on the information from members of the public or if there were recurring accidents, as well as random checks.
- What percentage of weapons were confiscated from people at the tube station during one of your checks? The information was not available, but officers would advise the committee at a later date.
- Could officers give any further information on an incident that occurred at Loughton Station a couple of weeks ago? Unfortunately, the Community Policing Team Officers were not aware of an incident but would investigate this and provide members with further information.
- How did members of the public report incidents that were caught on their dash cameras? C/Insp Cooper advised that the footage could be upload onto Report a road traffic incident | Essex Police
