Members' Allowances the latest figures according to a Local Government Analysis and Research survey

- In winter 2006, the survey of all 388 local authorities in England was conducted and a total of 257 authorities responded (66.2%).
- The survey collected information on basic allowance, special responsibility allowances, dependant/carers allowance, travel allowance, bike allowance, subsistence allowance and access to pension schemes.
- All local authorities in England have independent remuneration panels that review their allowances and provide advice on authorities' schemes. Allowances are intended to recompense properly the time necessary and the level of responsibility of the roles of councillors, whilst incorporating a strong public service discount.
- All data are ungrossed and relate to the figures reported by authorities. Response rates for individual questions vary.

Key findings

All 19,689 councillors in office in 2006 are entitled to a basic allowance and those councillors who hold offices of special responsibility, as set by their authority, are also entitled to a special responsibility allowance. Authorities also have the discretion to pay additional allowances such as dependant/carers allowance, travel allowance and subsistence allowance, and to allow councillors access to pension schemes.

Where the cost of living is highest, so are the allowances. Where the responsibilities and time taken to do the job are greatest, so are the allowances. Strong public service elements are incorporated into the rates and, again, variations take into account distinctions between types of authority and geographical location.

Basic allowance:

- Overall, councillors' basic allowance for 2006 averaged £5,648 per annum, ranging from £3,991 in shire districts to £9,512 in metropolitan districts. There was also wide variation regionally, from £4,729 in the East Midlands to £9,227 in London.

Special responsibility allowance:

- The average leaders' allowance was £16,356, ranging from £11,065 in shire districts to £31,784 in London boroughs. Regionally, the average allowance ranged from £12,632 in the East Midlands to £21,685 in Yorkshire and Humberside.
- Cabinet/executive members received an average allowance of £9,243, ranging from as little as £5,994 in shire districts to £17,634 in London boroughs. There were also regional variations, ranging from £6,273 in the North East to £12,262 in Yorkshire and Humberside.
- Overall, the average number of cabinet/executive members per authority was 6.9; it was highest in metropolitan districts, unitary authorities and authorities in the North East (7.9, 7.8 and 8.3 respectively) and lowest in shire districts and the East of England (6.4 and 5.9).
- The overall average allowance for Chairs of Overview and Scrutiny was £5,686, ranging from as little as £3,721 in shire districts to £10,738 in London boroughs. There were also regional variations, ranging from £4,299 in the South East to £9,967 in Yorkshire and Humberside.

- The majority of authorities also offered both travel (92.6%) and subsistence allowance (87.9%); however, fewer authorities offered a bike allowance (54.1%).
- Less than half of authorities (42.4%) offered their councillors access to a pension scheme.
